Hello luminaries Welcome to Pisces season we have our Pisces New Moon coming right up. Listen all about it. Welcome to Star powered astrology for changemakers I have Leslie Tagorda. Your guide, a Hawaii born Filipino Jewish astrologer who loves navigating visionaries like you the spiritual journey of your work so that you can be inspired to lead by your chart and become the luminary leader you are born to be. I'm really, really, really relieved about this Pisces season. Ah it's been so many ups and downs here in my little world of Leslie Tagorda. The last few weeks I've still been kind of swimming in like the ups and downs of grief and then my quintet conductor, Latino, we finally get back on tour like our very first tour, we used to tour so much before the pandemic. And we got to tour to Virginia, which was super exciting. I absolutely love going on tour and teaching people about Latin American music and classical music, and how we, like weave our values into classical music. But it just it's like everything else. It's like just like blinders. There's nothing else that can happen while I'm on tour. And then I get home my son has broken his hand my husband got COVID It was my birthday and like didn't do anything for my birthday because my husband had COVID It was just like all the things like oh my gosh, what is going on. And I finally feel like some of like that heaviness is lifting. Now that we are approaching Pisces season. Now that Saturn is you know, approaching those last degrees of Aquarius getting ready to move into Pisces in March. And Pluto of course sitting right on that last degree of Capricorn getting ready to move into Aquarius. We have a lot of big things happening in March. So the first kind of foray into like setting the stage for March of course, is our Pisces New Moon. Pisces New Moon happens on February 19, at 11:05pm Pacific. And so for most of us in the world, actually, this Pisces New Moon is going to be happening on February 20. On Monday, Presidents Day in the United States at Eastern Time 205 A M. So I want to share all about this Pisces New Moon because it feels really it just feels really wonderful. I'm been super grooving into Pisces lately I have found this like new appreciation for Pisces recently that I didn't always have. So I can't wait to share about this Pisces New Moon. But, you know, what was me right? First of all problems, I'm super grateful for everything that I have, and everything that I get to do and all of my privileges. I just want to preface that I understand my you know, my complaining and stuff, there are people that have it way worse in the world. And but really, this kind of like the heaviness that I feel just really comes from inside, not really being able to do the things that bring me the most joy. And the things that bring me the most joy is creating astrology content, and sharing and teaching the wisdom of astrology so that we can live with more intention and ease and impact. And so part of this last week, coming back to life was really creating this content. There's just been so much content on my plate that I have to create. In addition to kind of these like New Moon mini readings that I do for my mentorship level folks in Star powered circle. I'm doing like 20 New Moon mini readings every single month. And I absolutely love it because as I'm going through each of everybody's new moons, I'm spending you know, five to 10 minutes doing these like channeled mini readings based on their astrology, so much more wisdom of Pisces, and that new moon starts to come through. It's really amazing to see patterns emerge month after month after month. I just get to deepen my experience and understanding of these different archetypes and the planets. When I get to do all of these readings all at once. It's just such a joy. And then on top of the new moon readings that I've been doing, I've been also fleshing out the curriculum for my upcoming celestial cycles. I've been sharing, I think, some of the earlier podcasts from I think the end of end of 2022 and earlier this year, I was really sharing about like why celestial cycles are so important. Meaning just kind of the cycles as the planets move through our natal chart, which is on little bit different than just the Zodiacal seasons that we all get to experience here on planet earth. Because when we look at our natal chart, it's it looks exactly like a clock face with 12 different markers for different houses just like the 12 hours in a day, or half a day rather as the it turns the cycle twice in a 24 hour period. And each of the planets have their own velocity, they move at different tempos. And as each of the planets move through the different houses that are set to your unique seasons and timing, because you all all of us have different rising signs, even by degree and house division and things like that, we can really track even simple things like the sun, going through each of our houses. And if the sun represents our solar consciousness, or our creative source, or our superpowers, or just that natural talent, as the Transiting Sun moves through our natal chart, we can see what areas of our life light up and have most access to this creative source. As we simply watch the sun go by just absolutely looking at the sun and knowing those seasons that are specific to us. I've seen it change my clients lives with just like that permission. Like, why is it that every December, I am so tired and don't want to do anything, and giving permission to that one client. It's like, well, you know what, the sun is going through your fourth house at that time, of course, you want to hibernate and stay at home like, yeah, welcoming people and bring people over to your house. But you certainly don't want to do anything. And hearing that recognition and validation from people going, Oh, no wonder I'm always wanting to just be at home and buy new sheets at that time. It's so beautiful just to have that recognition when working with our celestial cycles. So this last week, I've been super excited about fleshing out that curriculum. Week one, we'll be looking at just that the sun cycles and how it determines our seasons over the course of the year. For the moon cycles, we'll be deepening our understandings of different transits and different phases. And looking at the moons because the moon is you know, it's just like whipping through the zodiac. Once every 29 days, then we'll be looking at those inner planets to also understand those Retrogrades and what we get to like, redo and how the inner planets have these kind of funny little orbits through our natal chart from our position here on earth that allow us to reintegrate certain themes in our life at certain times of year. I'm really looking forward to that. And then on the fourth week, then we'll be looking at the outer planets and how this shows us the larger seasons and cycles in our lives. Like the 12 You know, the 12 year cycles of Jupiter, the 30 year cycles of Saturn there are so many people are having Saturn returns right now the first Saturn returns and their second Saturn returns for all those late degree Aquarius, Saturn's as well as the early degree, Pisces Saturn's, I hear you, I feel you, there are a lot of listeners out there that have that unique combination. And then looking even beyond Saturn success, like 30 year success cycle, all the way through, you know, the Uranus the mid life cycles Neptune and Pluto. And so I'm really excited to share within my community about these celestial cycles, because what I realized is that astrology is so wonderful at looking at all the timing, and I always envision like this giant clock that has all of the the 12 different hands with all of these different planets. And as they're circling, and just having the validation that you're really at the right time, and the right place for all of these different shifts to happen. It just it feels so freeing and liberating, as well as working with ease and impact because of course, astrology love to use it for that inner awakening, but also how can we maximize our outward expression and leadership in our change making work. So very excited to deliver celestial cycles in March and that's been keeping me more than busy developing curriculum. Now if you're not already in Star powered circle, I'm sorry to say you won't have access to celestial cycles live but we'll be opening the doors for Star Power circle again, right around the equinox and celestial cycles will be in the astral library. And in Gemini season at the end of quarter two is when I'll be delivering star powered voice how to find your unique voice and brands and math Searching using your star powers. And so that's coming up, I'll have the waitlist, actually the waitlist is open right now. So if you don't want to forget, and you want to join in that waitlist to join in for quarter two to get celestial cycles in your library and participate in Star powered voice live during Gemini season, then head on over to starpowered.com forward slash waitlist. So you'll be the first to know and do that before you forget. Because I know that I'm definitely one of those people that forget. And I'm practicing still practicing, not over sending emails to remind you if you know, you know, so just you know, just sign up for the waitlist and you don't have to worry about it anymore. So let's dive in to this Pisces New Moon because this Pisces New Moon is just it's so wonderful. I really been looking towards this Pisces New Moon. The chart of the Pisces New Moon is really really funny. Let's see it should I let me see if I can bring this up. Yeah, hold on a second. So if you're watching this on video, you can see that I've shared the chart for the Pisces New Moon, again happens on February 19 11:05pm. Pacific, February 20 at 2:05am Eastern. And if you're looking at the chart, know that I cast this chart from San Francisco, so the house divisions might look a little bit different to you. All we're really looking at is the combination of the astrological aspects that are happening at this exact new moon. The most important thing that you might want to take that you might notice in this chart is that the new moon and Pisces of one degree is has an out of sign conjunction with Saturn that is at 28 degrees of Aquarius. So you know regardless of like you know, laying the Astro lingo just know that the Sun Moon and Saturn are in really tight aspect. So creating new beginnings for this Pisces energy and yet Saturn they're putting boundaries on it but they really honestly how can you create boundaries on something so expansive and so vast as as Pisces So I call this new moon in Pisces magic for pragmatist's. Meaning that we are fully supported by spirit, by our intuition, by our spirit guides by Universal oneness. That's what I'm calling magic. But for practical reasons for getting things done in this earthly world, hence the pragmatists and that comes from Saturn's. So you already know that a new moon is a time of new beginnings. And because we have Saturn it's a time for committing to your spiritual revolution and interconnected success. Pisces Saturn Pisces Saturn. So this new moon coupled with Saturn sharing space at this early Pisces degree requests a fresh crystal clear pledge to your Practical Magic. Now Practical Magic is the spiritual and emotional tools you harness to accomplish the goals that matter to you. You remember, Saturn is no longer about duty, it's a matter about accountability to the things that you want in your life. If you are less Woo, which probably not because you're listening to this podcast, and more of a pragmatist. This might mean leaning on soft creativity, like art and music or poetry to move the needle forward. Also, another thing that I want to push into there is our add into there is self compassion. Because regardless, this new moon, you are being asked to make a promise. That's Saturn's way of commitment and accountability to your practice of self compassion, empathy, and the feeling of universal love in both your Inner Awakening and your outward leadership, self compassion. You know, recently, lately, I've been just letting things come to me, like book recommendations or pieces of content. And I just kind of been following the signs and following my bliss. And I've been really listening a lot to the work of Kristin Neff lately who's been writing a lot of things about self compassion. And she really shares this idea of where we think about the confidence that we have and the courage that we need to show up as a leader and to do all the risky things that it means to be a change maker and entrepreneur. It's not about self esteem. And so, as a trained clinical psychologist, I believe that's what christen this background she I think she has like a PhD in something. She was just talking about the harm that self esteem does, right? We think about self esteem that might be equated with Aries and Mars with that self compassion piece, which is much more Neptunian and Piscean. And you know, Venus is in Pisces right now. That we're, she's totally exalted. The softness of self compassion actually brings us so much further, because it chips away at that perfectionism, that we grow with that self esteem, like needing to be a certain thing. Instead of giving ourselves permission and forgiveness, we're more anything but perfect. And so this promise to our own self compassion and self empathy. I understand that is a huge task for most of us. Because, like, oftentimes, we are so much easier to offer self offer compassion and empathy towards others, versus towards ourselves. So for this Pisces New Moon, this is the energy that you'll want to create and cultivate to connect at a soul level to reach your highest possibilities. Now, you know, you've reached your highest potential when life and work is easy, fluid, blissful, despite that everyday obstacles that are always there. Remember, at the top of the show, I was sharing about all of the things that have been going on in my life, just kind of the chaos that is surrounding us. And we like to think that oh, like, once my son's has healed or once like my husband is done with COVID. Or once I'm over my grief, or once I'm over some kind of obstacle that things will be hunky dory. But you know what those obstacles keep on coming. And so we have to remember that we have to find that inner sense of peace and bliss and joy that comes from Pisces. At the same time of this new moon Pluto, of course, is at that very last day, its degree of Capricorn like I mentioned earlier, having almost completed his job of tearing down the oppressive institutionalized systems that had embedded themselves in our mindsets, our collective mindsets and individually, just like the you know, maybe colonial mentality or this understanding of needing to hustle, those kinds of mindsets that are really really toxic. Venus and Neptune in Pisces with a touch of their magical empathy and interconnectivity is able to dissolve the shackles and shame of fear once and for all. So we now all have this grace and lightness to rise above and see completely new possibilities wrapped in universal love, grace and magic, this new moon, can you see why I'm so excited about this shift in energy. So if we think back to this last New Moon in Aquarius back in January, that new moon, the sun and moon were joined up with Pluto, you I hope you had those breakthroughs in claiming what you desire for yourself. Now the luminaries also known as the lights, the sun and the moon, cozy up with Saturn, reminding you that only you can commit to what you want. So for this Pisces New Moon, I want you to create a pledge a promise to your intuitive Piscean gifts, your Practical Magic and your pragmatic self compassion. So I want to kind of break down a little bit of the astrology of this new moon and just kind of some of the learnings that I picked up while going through 20 New Moon mini readings you know when I was thinking about just like the Saturn and being cozied up to this Pisces so Saturn in Aquarius, you know, Saturn is home at Aquarius so that it can like break all the rules that it had created. And Saturn is a taskmaster. Right. But Saturn has a taskmaster because ultimately Saturn wants you to succeed it wants you to achieve it wants you to reach your highest schools, it wants you to master and commit to the things that are important to you. And oftentimes we talk about Saturn as having boundaries or creating structures on which we can grow. And when you think of this Saturn in Aquarius being next to this Pisces New Moon, there's no way you can contain Piscean energy like how can you like contain a nebula, where stars are being born? How can you contain universal love or unity? You can't. So when you're thinking about committing and mastering this Pisces energy for your new moon, what I discovered is that sadder wants you to simplify. That is the way that in Piscean ways that we can focus and crystallize and center that energy is by simplifying if Pisces is ultimately about ease and flow. And, you know, Pisces kind of has this bad rap because sometimes we think about it as like psychosis or addiction. And all of that comes from this avoidance of being too sensitive. Really, what's what Pisces wants us to do is to retreat and to surrender into this place of going with the flow, and being on top of that wonderful river of infinite possibilities. And so with Saturn there for this new moon, it's, he's, you know, Saturn is saying, Okay, we got to simplify, right? You want all of these wonderful things to be an ease and flow. But with Saturn, they're creating mastery and adding boundaries. It's saying, How can we make this easier? How can we simplify this and the way to simplify this is to get rid of all the things that are overcomplicating things. So as I talk about this astrology, I really invite you to take what you need, leave the rest and trust your intuition in terms of what you want to plant in this Pisces New Moon. So New Moon with Saturn, what how can you simplify to create freedom and flow again so attorney and key words boundaries, commitments, promise, responsibility, achievement, accountability, mastery, right? But next to Pisces, like I said, we cannot create a boundary. So how can we simplify so that we can focus? And then Pisces keywords you already know and go ahead and invite you to listen to that Pisces archetype episode if you don't already if you haven't already, but those Pisces keywords are spirituality, sensitive sensitivity, unity, omnipotence, compassion, Soul dream love. I just when I think about Pisces last night, I watched Ryan the last dragon with my son and if you haven't already watched that movie, like please do is just like such a beautiful movie. But these dragons when they're like with the kind of their fog and everything, they're like hopping around, and all these like a rainbow filled clouds. And to me that is Pisces, just like the epitome of Pisces, and you can't contain that right? And so how do you focus into that? Now, this is an interesting aspect that the New Moon is also making so Moon and Sun are in quintile with revolutionary Uranus. And so they are asking what is the highest potential you want to tap into with your innovative change making revolution? So when we think about a quintile, and I don't talk about quintiles often because quintiles not not because quintiles are quote, unquote, Ptolemaic aspects, thank you Ptolemaic aspects. Some people call them minor aspects, but really, there are no aspects that are minor. So non Ptolemaic aspects the quintile, is similar to the word quintessential. When you can think about a quintile the combination between planets is that kind of Genesee quoi that talent that you can't exactly describe or know where it came from that star power, that magic that artistic genius, and so many beautiful artists. Celebrities, you'll see many many many quintiles in their charts. And so this New Moon is Quinn tiling Uranus and Uranus is key words, of course change revolution, quantum leaps, electrical shocks and breakthroughs in innovation and freedom and genius. And so there's a little bit of magic, innovative magic and quantum leaps. So even though your intention can be simple, don't hold yourself back from deciding that you're going to quantum leap into some like fantastic future. If you can dream it, you can become it. So take yourself there and take that risk and decide that you're going to jump through this magical wormhole to get where you want to be with your new moon intention. And so we already talked about Venus and Neptune they're still in the sky reminding you how interconnected how part of the cosmic constellation you are part of and Pluto still holding on to that last degree of Capricorn saying what can you put aside all of those systems of oppression and shame that still need to be on earth? Like how can you put them aside, work through them so that you can tap into all of the gifts that are waiting for you? So my friends, that is what I have for this Pisces New Moon. I'll be sharing on Instagram, some of the house activations For your visionary work in your in your work and your business.
